Simulator / Facility

The lecture part of this course is conducted at the Galley Training Room which is equipped with a cooking simulator. After the lecture, trainees can then practice their cooking skills at the Galley laboratory. Our Galley laboratory is equipped with 12 cooking stations, each comprising of a burner and complete cooking utensils and ingredients. Our 12 cooking station ratio will surely help seal the cooking skills of our trainees.

Reasons to Attend the Course

This course provides training for senior ratings in the galley and for second cooks with potential for promotion to senior ratings position to develop their leadership, management, communication and technical skills to ensure successful ship operation. At the end of this training, trainees will be able to master the preparation of food under the Western, Japanese, and Indian Cuisine.
